JUUL DE VRIES

JUULDEVRIES.COM

Juul is a hybrid photographer from the Netherlands. He's continually looking for new ways to keep his work fresh and lively. Sometimes he photographs models; at other times he combines studio shots with backgrounds taken on location.

He has gradually learned to master the technique of digitally black and white photos by applying partial layers in Adobe Photoshop. The resulting creations occupy a specific and unique place in his work, and the strong bond he feels with his subjects is visible in the appeal of his photography.

Gastronomes who discriminate between eating and dining will confirm that high-quality ingredients, excellent knowledge of the culinary art and an unremitting drive are prerequisites for the preparation of haute cuisine dishes. With photography, those very same principles apply, a point which finds instant recognition among all creative photographers.

A proportion of these people will be susceptible to his atmospheric images. The mutual identification with one another's photographs then becomes a "feast of recognition."

DAFNE

*"My name is Dafne, and I live in the Netherlands. I've been modeling national and international for many years. I am always enthusiastic and easy to work with. People say I have a perfect body and my long blonde hair is an eyecatcher. During the shoot, I avoid falling into *usual* poses. If the photographer is clear in his communication to me, he will never be disappointed. I have worked two times with photographer Juul de Vries for this project "Boudoir Sessions." It was a pleasure to work with him."*

They are self-taught photographers team of husband and wife, nature lovers fuse fine art and penetrating emotion in their work which allow audience go on their epic adventure.

They are currently based in Vancouver Island (British Columbia - Canada), they are also in French Polynesia (Tahiti, Bora) for four years now.

Boudoir and nude art outdoor are their specialties with a powerful and strong contrast between black and white. Focusing on one's overall photography experience, they have the unique ability to connect with their subjects and transform their nervousness while guiding their vulnerability into fierce confidence, creating beautiful portraiture. Their images have been described as captivating, authentic and wild which often portraying female strength and pride as their fragility.

Part of their touch is to be focusing only on the body and the beauty, movement of a hidden face of the model and direct emotion. The eye is seeing the contrast between light and shadow, and curves, only to get an artistic vision and reveal a pure and independent emotion depending on the viewer.

This project will continue on several different places around the world beginning in Vancouver Island, Tahiti, Bora Bora, Florid, the desert of Utah and Arizona.

Slow movements and smooth forms of liquid madly attract everyone; transparent and innocent, gentle and warm. If you add just a few colors, you will get a new fantastic element, a PINCOMATIC. Something unreal and fantastically beautiful. Something magic.

EM THERESA shot by AMAZILIA PHOTOGRAPHY
shot at HENFIELD, ENGLAND

"As a photographer, I am drawn to that wonderful combination of female form and beauty and strength and agility. The challenge is to portray feminine curves and body lines in original and interesting positions, enhancing the striking poses with appropriate lighting and clean studio sets. Having worked previously with Em Theresa, I was well aware of her skill and bravery with dramatic poses both on the floor and in the air, and she was, therefore, a natural choice of model for this set." - Amazilia

AMAZILIA PHOTOGRAPHY

AMAZILIA.PHOTOGRAPHY

Amazilia Photography is owned and operated by Paul, a British photographer, who started working with fine art nudes as a photographic subject for continual learning, development, and enjoyment as he neared retirement from a career working with several organizations in policy development and strategy.

He holds Distinctions in both Foundation and Advanced Photography Diplomas.

Amazilia Photography is named after a species of hummingbird native to Peru and Ecuador. The name was chosen because Paul finds hummingbirds to be one of the most beautiful and inspiring natural wonders of the world. The splendor of these tiny avian jewels is reflected in some of their names such as Shining Sunbeam, Little Sunangel, and Andean Emerald. This radiance, strength, and beauty are also seen in women; a subject that has fascinated artists in every discipline over millennia.

Amazilia's focuses his work in three core areas of people photography – fine art nude (including athletic/dance), nudes in the natural environment and sensual nudes. He is a published photographer who has worked with more than 100 models in the past three years and has recently won the Runner-Up Photographer of the Year position with an international magazine. He is currently working on a book "Re-wilding the Human Spirit" with some of his favorite images from natural shoots.

"Dear friend,

I was brought up during the mid-19th and early 20th centuries when artists K.Bryullov, V.Vasnetsov, I.Repin...inspire me. All my life I was interested in art, painting, photography, and fashion. My internal goal is to express the ideas that overwhelm me and reflect the beauty that I see through photography. I also derive great inspiration from shooting beautiful women. Yes, I know how corny it sounds. But I honestly cannot think of something more exciting. Fashion and art are my favorite genres ultimately. In my works, I do my best to create deep, meaningful images framed by exceptional aesthetics.

"The original idea might be an item of clothing, a photo, a photographers process, a location. The list goes on! After reaching out and putting a team together, the team looks at the idea to create a vision, and an essential part of the process is to give the other members input into how they envisage the shoot. It is crucial that each member of the team contributes their vision to the idea, and I genuinely believe that it allows the final product to be more than "the sum of its parts." I love to depict all of my subjects sensually and robustly. To showcase their vulnerability, while not removing their dignity. I like my subjects to grow into their role and have them allow themselves give me their sensuality, which, I hope, I capture."

My name is Stefan. I'm an aspiring photographer from Berlin on the brink of going into photography professionally.

After finishing school, always having a good understanding of informatics and technical stuff, I started studying computer science in Berlin. Though I soon realized that something important was missing in my life and this path wasn't the right one for me, it took me some time to eventually find it in music (I am a drummer in a blues/hardrock band) and photography.

Though I've been pursuing photography as a hobby for only about 2 years now, it soon developed into the thing I eventually want to do for a living and been concentrating on for the last couple of months.

I'm always trying to broaden my horizon on different kinds of genres, be it fashion, beauty or portraiture and recently focused on the fine art that is nude photography.

I've mainly been working with people for whom modeling is only a hobby and gaining their trust in trying something new, being comfortable enough to actually enjoy the experience of posing nude and happy after they receive the finished shots we did together, is a great feeling and enrichment for my work as an aspiring artist."

JESTIMANI LESSMANN

ECLIPSE MONDAY shot by GUSTAVOFOTOARTE

GUSTAVOFOTOARTE

"Photography is my passion. Although I'm a published photographer, this is my hobby. I started photographing landscapes, then my friends (I have very patient friends). I started shooting with a 35mm SLR and even learned to develop film in a dark room (using creative ways of 'burning' the image with light for special effects). As part of a photography class in LA, I started learning studio lighting and shooting with models. However, it wasn't until I moved to Seattle when I joined a studio Meet Up and I started shooting professional travel models on a regular basis.

My favorite photo shoots take place in the outdoors, I love natural light. However, this set took place indoors. The place we chose in Las Vegas had large windows which allowed the sunset light to brighten up the location. Besides, the natural light reflecting through the glass of the stairway created fascinating shades which Eclipse Monday (the model) playfully used. I love the contrast of the images the model gave me. Eclipse, an indeed art nude model, gave me different poses. A contradiction of art and sensuality within an alluring tone created by the natural light of the sunset.

This set represents the images that I like to capture: a professional art model who is fun and friendly, natural light that allows me to play with the mood of the image and overall sensuality. Since photography is my passion, I want to take photos of people that are willing to teach me and that are fun."

ECLIPSE MONDAY

"The spark for my modeling to go full time began in the mountains of Colorado Springs, CO. After Dabbling with glamour, High fashion, runway, and even pin-up for three years, it finally helped me realize that fine art was where I wanted to base. The next month I moved back to my hometown in Colorado, and the plans for my Freelance modeling travel plans started to make way. I have been touring the US; for two years in Aug. 2017 (resulting in multiple publications), wandering around naked making art through landmarks and nature all over.

My modeling tour to Las Vegas led me to cross paths, and work with the amazing Gustavofotoarte. We were lucky enough to have the perfect moody light engulfing the entire room. Both agreeing on the stairs were where we needed to be; Gustavofotoarte let me get into my zone. The next thing we started to click away; not knowing if the light will continue to stay or not. We rushed against time and created this set, so enjoy."

"Photography is the media of my choice, but as a kid, I was attracted to painting, especially Surrealism, Cubism, and Expressionism."

JOCELINE

Joceline was possibly always destined to be a nude model since she grew up in a family that tended not to care much about clothes. Consequently, she wasn't aware that nudity was a taboo until, aged 5, she stripped off at school and realized that ordinary people didn't do that. Joceline, however, grew up not to be too bothered about being normal, so when she was 'spotted' by a press photographer at a London theatre, she jumped at the chance to pose nude for him (despite having a vague worry that he might be planning to murder her). He didn't kill her, just gave her some lovely prints and some advice about pursuing modelling full-time.

Having trained extensively in ballet and gymnastics before training as a professional actress, Joceline loves the storytelling, expressive nature of her work. She also likes working in many styles - from the catwalks of London Fashion Week to avant-garde exhibitions, fetish websites, and pure classical nude work. She models worldwide, in locations as varied as the plains of Africa, the Australian Bush, the (cold!) North of Norway, and almost everywhere uncomfortable in between. She likes doing bendy, weird poses, and making faces.
